ORDER FRENCH TROOPS TO SHOOT TO KILL

GERMANS INFURIATED BY PRISON SENTENCES ON MINE DIRECTORS

Teuton Crowds at Mayence Attacked French Soldiers and Officers, Invaded Their Hotel, Dragged Out Orchestra, Made Them Play "Deutschland Uber Alles"

Local Police Did Not Interfere and French General Commanding Area Issued Proclamation Taking Command of the City, Directing Troops to Shoot When Necessary
(By United Press)

Mayence, Jan. 25.—French troops with orders to shoot to kill in case of further disorders took over command of Mayence from local German police today following attacks upon French officers, during the early morning. German crowds infuriated by prison sentences passed upon Herr Schlutius, Dusseldorf finance director and Herr Raiffeisen, mine director attacked French soldiers and officers, invaded the hotel where the latter were billeted, dragged an orchestra to the street and forced the musicians to play "Deutschland Uber Alles".

Local police did not interfere and the French general commanding the area issued a proclamation taking over command of the city and directing his troops to shoot when necessary. Spahis, (or colonials) patrolled the streets and kept the crowds from gathering.

There was jubilation among Germans in the Ruhr followed announcement of the outcome of the trial of Fritz Thyssen and other industrialists yesterday. The Germans feel that the French in imposing fines instead of prison sentences showed weakness. Thyssen and the others have refused to pay the fines, however.

General Strike Railway Workers Began Today

Essen, Jan. 25.—The general strike of all German railway workers in the Ruhr is reported to have begun today.

Tightening of censorship by the French military authorities shields the developments even from correspondents within the ring of bayonets which the invaders have now thrown around the occupied area, but rail traffic has been practically at a standstill since 10 o'clock last night. The newly occupied area is cut off, not only from the rest of Germany that lies to the east, north and south but from the occupied Rhineland on the west as well.

Important French movements apparently looking at absolute isolation of the Ruhr were under way throughout the night and this morning. Heavy gun caissons rumbled through the streets of towns that marked the limits on the newly occupied zone.

Many of the troops that were withdrawn yesterday from cities have been flung in an impenetrable cordon of steel around the industrial zone along a line which France intends to make a new border for the next two years, according to reports from both German and French sources.

No one now may pass in or out of the Ruhr by rail, water or highway without undergoing the scrutiny of French sentries and coming under the yawning muzzles of heavy field guns.

Belgian Soldiers With Germans

Essen, Jan. 25.—Belgian troops today shot and wounded a German citizen at Ende as a result of a quarrel and beat civilians in a clash at Oberhausen.

The trouble arose over the rail strike which was general throughout the newly occupied zone this afternoon, although some trains were kept moving eastward from Essen.

General Weygand's arrival this afternoon was believed to be the signal for further repressive measures in the Ruhr. The French government kept a watchful eye on demonstrations preparing to welcome Fritz Thyssen and coal barons tried and fined yesterday at Mayence.

KLAN CHARGED WITH RESPONSIBILITY FOR LAWLESSNESS, ETC.

ATTORNEY GENERAL A. V. COCO MAKES ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE COURT

REFERS TO DEPLORABLE CONDI-TIONS IN MOREHOUSE PAR-ISH
(By United Press)

Bastrop, La., Jan. 25.—The Ku Klux Klan was charged today by the state of Louisiana with the responsibility for the lawlessness and disorder in Morehouse parish which culminated in the murder by torture of Watt Daniels and Thomas F. Richards.

Attorney General A. V. Coco made the charge in announcing to Judge Fred M. Odom in district court that the state "for the present at least and until such time as circumstances may justify their resumption he has decided to discontinue the proceedings" initiated here January 5 in an open hearing.

"It is my very painful and humiliating duty to refer to the deplorable conditions in this parish as revealed by the evidence," said Coco.

"The proof is convincing that since the advent of the Ku Klux Klan in this parish there has gradually arisen a condition of disorder and lawlessness which has ripened into a super-session of a government of its own from which a reign of terror and chaos has resulted and the parish was on the brink of riot and bloodshed when the governor sent the militia here and these proceedings were initiated.

"While it may be conceded that many klansmen did not actually participate in or encourage these many acts of lawlessness and crime and finally culminating in the murder of Watt Daniels and Thomas F. Richards that must nevertheless be deemed responsible therefore by reason of their silence and inaction. These offenses and crimes were committed in the name of the order, under the protection of its regalia and in the use of its recognized methods and practices under the leadership of its officers, the practice of which has for the last six months at least brought about a condition in this parish which is a blot upon our civilization and brings into question the proud title of American citizenship."

CENTER TWP. UNIT

Farm Bureau Met at Home of Con Faupel, Township Telephone Line Discussed

The Farm Bureau Unit of Center township met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Con Faupel, beginning with a dinner at one o'clock.

The principal subject before the club was the matter of a township telephone line, which under the state law may be built as a fire precaution in cut-over districts, with the aid of a five-mill tax.

Part of Center township is now served by a telephone line, and the other farmers could receive this service by taking advantage of the state law.

On Thursday the Rabbit Lake Bureau met at the Fred Johnson farm, and will take up the same subject. The rural sections are anxious to become more closely connected with telephone service, which in turn is connected with the exchanges of the towns adjacent.

Desert Oases.

The oases are places in the desert where subterranean water from the more or less distant mountains breaks through a layer of marl, or is helped through it by the digging of wells. Practically nowhere in the desert is rain entirely unknown, but often none falls for years, the cause being that the prevailing winds tend to be from the center of the region toward its edges, and so carry little moisture.

DO THIS FOR YOUR COLD:

For your own sake as well as for the safety of those about you, get rid of your cold. Colds are contagious and colds are the forerunner of grippe and pneumonia.

Get from the drug store an ordinary twenty-five cent jar of what is known as Muco-Solvent Salve. Melt some of this in a spoon, inhale the fumes deeply. The head will open instantly. Next, with little finger apply the salve in each nostril. Now breathe deeply again; this gets the healing vapors into the upper respiratory tract. Repeat every half hour or so until relieved.

If at bed-time tonight your cold is not entirely gone, take a good dose of oil or salts; follow same directions as above and also rub salve thickly on chest, covering same with soft cloth, preferably flannel. Tomorrow you will feel like a new person.

The Common Cold Cause of Dangerous Diseases

NEGLECT MEANS TROUBLE

It is only of late that the danger of a cold has been realized by the public at large. Then two epidemics of influenza to awaken public authorities. Now, in most localities children are not allowed to attend school when showing indications of a cold.

Cold Easy to Treat

Colds are readily gotten rid of. First of all keep the bowels open, castor oil or epsom salts will be best. Keep on hand at home and at your place of business a jar of what is known in the drug trade as Muco-Solvent Salve. It is only twenty-five cents and there is enough for a dozen ordinary colds. Insert a little in each nostril and breathe deeply. Repeat several times an hour. Nature will do the rest.

When Cold Is Deep In Chest, Look Out!

Once the cold get down in the chest or is a head cold of long standing the treatment is enlarged upon but is just as simple and positive. Keep the bowels open. Melt Muco-Solvent Salve in a spoon, inhale the fumes (very pleasant) deeply. This clears the head. Now apply in nostrils and breathe deeply. Do this several times an hour.

At bedtime repeat as above. Apply hot towels to chest to open pores, then rub salve on thickly as a poultice and cover with warm cloths.

flannel if possible. Put most salve in nose, go to sleep and wake up without a cold tomorrow.

Dr. L. W. Giffin, of Neenah, Wisconsin, began forty years ago to use in his practice a prescription which has since become famous. It was known in the '80s and '90s as Dr. Giffin's Diphtheria Preventive and Cure, and now as Muco-Solvent Liquid. Deep down colds respond at once to its use as it is a germicide which disintegrates and dissolves the phlegm or mucous causing it to be expelled by coughing. If your cold is stubborn tell your physician of this medicine. It is sold by all druggists in 75c and $1.00 bottles and is recommended for any affections such as chest colds, hoarseness, la grippe, bronchitis, croup, tonsillitis, quincy, etc.

BRAINERD PLAYS STAPLES FRIDAY

Absolute Confidence is Felt in Brainerd, but They Have a Gruelling Contest Ahead

STAPLES A DANGEROUS FOE

Staples Won Big Victory over Locals in Football, And Score Can be Evened with Basket Ball

(By W. G.)
Brainerd's fifth mighty basket ball conquest will be toward the west, on the stalwart Staples warriors. Friday the locals will strive at Staples for victory with a team that showed itself dangerous by whipping Aitkin by a tally of 16 to 14. It will be remembered that Brainerd experienced some difficulty in subduing Aitkin, which means that the teams chafing on Friday evening are very evenly matched and a tense battle may be expected.

Pine River and Crosby each once and Aitkin twice are the victories to Brainerd's credit without a defeat against her. Now a new team will be met, one that has showed itself to be up and a coming.

Will the locals be able to make the grade? Absolute confidence is felt in the defenders, but they have a hard fight ahead of them. Excellent support has been given the team in the past, but they deserve none in the future if this Staples game is lost through overconfidence. It is felt, however, that the old battlers will swing into the arena with a fox terrier faith and plenty of bull dog determination, which goes a long way toward making defeat impossible.

The eagles realize that the whole city is behind them in this game, and a rosy reception is promised them as victors. They also realize that opinions are pretty much the same regarding those who cannot be depended upon when the battle is fiercest.

Staples won a big victory over our high school in football. This is the basket ball team's opportunity to put the fair name of the school up a few notches. The school body expects it, so does the entire city. Plenty of the old zip and fight will accomplish the results and nothing less than that will be accepted.

AMERICA AND EUROPE

SENATOR BORAH'S insistence that our government do something in Europe may be inspired by a desire to atone for his earlier insistence that America keep out of Europe. It would be foolish to criticize the senator for his change of front, just as it is a mistake to criticize the man who becomes a reformer after being a bit of a devil in his youth. When a man finds that his attitude to life has been mistaken he is likely to go along the new road, after he has faced about, just as hard as he went on the old road before he saw his folly.

Senator Borah has changed, but the country has not changed with him. If the people had changed as the senator has changed the administration would not be facing its present problem. The government is without a mandate from the people asking that it enter into Europe's tangled life for any purpose whatsoever. President Harding is taking the stand, taken in the past by men like Theodore Roosevelt—a stand that demands that this country make no move that it is unwilling to back up to the finish. The government is not in a position to make any strong advances to Europe because the people are not behind any such program.

The people may be wrong. Senator Borah may be right. But whoever is right, the government cannot afford to initiate a policy recommended by Senator Borah but repudiated by the people.

There seems to be but one possible course open to the government, and that is to take the people into its confidence, present a frank statement of the effect of the present conditions in Europe on the interests of the United States, show the relation of these unsettled conditions to our own prosperity, advise the people what the administration considers the best course to be pursued in view of the established facts, and allow the people to register their opinion on the proposals of the government.

The United States cannot afford to make any move in Europe which is of the nature of a bluff and which would not be an expression of the will of its citizens. A well-defined policy must be adopted and the people must be in sympathy with that policy. If the leaders in our government are convinced that the attitude of our people to Europe is mistaken and does not hold any hope of assisting Europe and thereby advancing our own interests, it is the duty of the administration to enlighten the people and lead them as far as possible into a right relation to these problems. A government does not exist to express the people's will alone, it may guide the people's thought and lead public sentiment into the right channels.

The attitudes assumed by the governments of Europe have alienated the American people who are not willing to continue to pay for their mistakes. If Senator Borah can talk Europe into doing the right thing Europe may act on Lord Bryce's famous advice and "trust America, for in the end America will do the right thing."

STATE CONTROL OF COAL

A BILL presented to the legislature by the State Fuel Administrator would give the state control of the coal industry. This is what is claimed for the bill. But that is just what it would not do. A state like Minnesota that does not produce coal will secure little control of the industry by any legislation it may adopt. The coal industry is controlled quite well by the operators and the public has been given little consideration.

The bill would give the state a certain control over the distributors. These would be required to pay a license, and if the license fees carried the cost of the state's control machinery all that the consumers would be required to do would be to pay the license fees which would be added to their coal bills. If the license fees more than covered the cost, the surplus would go into the coffers of the state, but the coal bills of the people would place it there. If the license fees did not meet the costs of the control machinery the tax-payers would have to dig up to pay for the control system which has already added to their bills the license fees paid by the distributors and passed on to the people.

If the state could control the coal industry the matter would be different, but the United States is finding that a real task. The problem does not lie in what happens to coal in Minnesota but in what happens to it before it gets here. When the operators bring down their prices, employ their workers steadily, cease to utilize strikes to bring about a shortage, and the railroads' charges for transportation are reduced Minnesota's coal problem will be a thing of the past.

Many things influence coal prices and right now Minnesota's weather is playing no mean part. We fail to see that the proposal, apart from increasing the state's officialdom, would exert any real control over the coal industry. The federal coal commission has undertaken the real task of finding out what is wrong with a view to correcting any wrongs discovered and if that commission fails to control the coal industry Minnesota is not likely to succeed.

REMOVING THE CAUSES

FEVERS, boils, wars, industrial disturbances and massacres, are effects which arise from causes and when the cause is removed the effect must follow. The effects are visible but the causes are not always revealed. Thousands have died because the secret of a disease was not known, but when science has discovered the cause of a disease whole territories have been freed from the threat of disease, as in the case of Panama.

What is true of cause and effect in disease is also true of cause and effect in the body-politic. A world war is no bigger than the cause that underlies it and the strikes, riots and massacres are not so serious as the disaffection that makes them possible.

The admission of such obvious facts leads to a consideration of underlying causes. In war we do not blame the men who kill each other; we admire their heroism and see that even enemies are the victims of the cause that brought about the struggle. We see in the passing of Erskine Childers, one of England's bravest sons, the sacrifice of a life that was dedicated to the Irish cause and which had been so aroused by the knowledge of past oppression that death seemed preferable to yielding.

This is true of disturbances in our industrial life that issue in massacre, riots and strikes. There is a cause. That cause must be discovered. A careful diagnosis must be made and the symptoms carefully analysed. Such is the task of the Federal Coal commission. It is an industrial clinic analysing the causes of upheavals and prescribing a remedy for the evils that exist in the coal industry. Effects must be studied to discover causes but we will get much farther by giving more attention to causes and tinkering less with effects. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

LLOYD GEORGE can say almost anything that he likes, now that he is relieved of responsibility, while poor Poincare is forced to be careful because his responsibility makes his tenure of office uncertain.

MINNESOTA'S proposed budget is much higher than its income and it must either be reduced or the suit to fit must be stretched. If the stretching tears the suit it will have to be patched with taxes.

HUGH FULLERTON thinks that Willard has no more chance of surviving in a match with Dempsey than a steer has in the Chicago stock yards.

How will the United States get along without an annual coal strike?

AMERICA AND EUROPE

SENATOR BORAH'S insistence that our government do something in Europe may be inspired by a desire to atone for his earlier insistence that America keep out of Europe. It would be foolish to criticize the senator for his change of front, just as it is a mistake to criticize the man who becomes a reformer after being a bit of a devil in his youth. When a man finds that his attitude to life has been mistaken he is likely to go along the new road, after he has faced about, just as hard as he went on the old road before he saw his folly.

Senator Borah has changed, but the country has not changed with him. If the people had changed as the senator has changed the administration would not be facing its present problem. The government is without a mandate from the people asking that it enter into Europe's tangled life for any purpose whatsoever. President Harding is taking the stand, taken in the past by men like Theodore Roosevelt—a stand that demands that this country make no move that it is unwilling to back up to the finish. The government is not in a position to make any strong advances to Europe because the people are not behind any such program.

There seems to be but one possible course open to the government, and that is to take the people into its confidence, present a frank statement of the effect of the present conditions in Europe on the interests of the United States, show the relation of these unsettled conditions to our own prosperity, advise the people what the administration considers the best course to be pursued in view of the established facts, and allow the people to register their opinion on the proposals of the government.

The United States cannot afford to make any move in Europe which is of the nature of a bluff and which would not be an expression of the will of its citizens. A well-defined policy must be adopted and the people must be in sympathy with that policy. If the leaders in our government are convinced that the attitude of our people to Europe is mistaken and does not hold any hope of assisting Europe and thereby advancing our own interests, it is the duty of the administration to enlighten the people and lead them as far as possible into a right relation to these problems. A government does not exist to express the people's will alone, it may guide the people's thought and lead public sentiment into the right channels.

The attitudes assumed by the governments of Europe have alienated the American people who are not willing to continue to pay for their mistakes. If Senator Borah can talk Europe into doing the right thing Europe may act on Lord Bryce's famous advice and "trust America, for in the end America will do the right thing."

STATE CONTROL OF COAL

A BILL presented to the legislature by the State Fuel Administrator would give the state control of the coal industry. This is what is claimed for the bill. But that is just what it would not do. A state like Minnesota that does not produce coal will secure little control of the industry by any legislation it may adopt. The coal industry is controlled quite well by the operators and the public has been given little consideration.

The bill would give the state a certain control over the distributors. These would be required to pay a license, and if the license fees carried the cost of the state's control machinery all that the consumers would be required to do would be to pay the license fees which would be added to their coal bills. If the license fees more than covered the cost, the surplus would go into the coffers of the state, but the coal bills of the people would place it there. If the license fees did not meet the costs of the control machinery the tax-payers would have to dig up to pay for the control system which has already added to their bills the license fees paid by the distributors and passed on to the people.

If the state could control the coal industry the matter would be different, but the United States is finding that a real task. The problem does not lie in what happens to coal in Minnesota but in what happens to it before it gets here. When the operators bring down their prices, employ their workers steadily, cease to utilize strikes to bring about a shortage, and the railroads' charges for transportation are reduced Minnesota's coal problem will be a thing of the past.

Many things influence coal prices and right now Minnesota's weather is playing no mean part. We fail to see that the proposal, apart from increasing the state's officialdom, would exert any real control over the coal industry. The federal coal commission has undertaken the real task of finding out what is wrong with a view to correcting any wrongs discovered and if that commission fails to control the coal industry Minnesota is not likely to succeed.

REMOVING THE CAUSES

FEVERS, boils, wars, industrial disturbances and massacres, are effects which arise from causes and when the cause is removed the effect must follow. The effects are visible but the causes are not always revealed. Thousands have died because the secret of a disease was not known, but when science has discovered the cause of a disease whole territories have been freed from the threat of disease, as in the case of Panama.

What is true of cause and effect in disease is also true of cause and effect in the body-politic. A world war is no bigger than the cause that underlies it and the strikes, riots and massacres are not so serious as the disaffection that makes them possible.

The admission of such obvious facts leads to a consideration of underlying causes. In war we do not blame the men who kill each other; we admire their heroism and see that even enemies are the victims of the cause that brought about the struggle. We see in the passing of Erskine Childers, one of England's bravest sons, the sacrifice of a life that was dedicated to the Irish cause and which had been so aroused by the knowledge of past oppression that death seemed preferable to yielding.

This is true of disturbances in our industrial life that issue in massacre, riots and strikes. There is a cause. That cause must be discovered. A careful diagnosis must be made and the symptoms carefully analysed. Such is the task of the Federal Coal commission. It is an industrial clinic analysing the causes of upheavals and prescribing a remedy for the evils that exist in the coal industry. Effects must be studied to discover causes but we will get much farther by giving more attention to causes and tinkering less with effects. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

LOYD GEORGE can say almost anything that he likes, now that he is relieved of responsibility, while poor Poincare is forced to be careful because his responsibility makes his tenure of office uncertain.

MINNESOTA'S proposed budget is much higher than its income and it must either be reduced or the suit to fit must be stretched. If the stretching tears the suit it will have to be patched with taxes.

HUGH FULLERTON thinks that Willard has no more chance of surviving in a match with Dempsey than a steer has in the Chicago stock yards.

How will the United States get along without an annual coal strike?

TO MAKE BRAINERD A CITY OF HOMES

Mahlum Lumber Company Announces
a Plan to Finance Home Construction in Brainerd

ON LONG TERM PAYMENTS

Installments Spread over a Term of 12 Years will Reduce Principal and Interest

The Mahlum Lumber Company announces in this issue of the Dispatch a plan whereby they will finance home building in Brainerd during the present year. The announcement by this progressive lumber company comes early in the new year, a year which should see considerable prosperity and growth for this community. The Mahlum Lumber Company in making this announcement has shown its faith in this city and this firm one of the oldest in the city and composed of local people, is looking ahead to the rapid development of Brainerd.

Through the plan that this company is offering every progressive citizen who is desirous of owning a home can obtain one through this generous offer of the lumber company. The plan calls for a payment extending over a period of twelve years and the lumber company is extending these easy payments to include not only the building of new homes, but also the remodeling of old ones.

The following statements were made by an officer of the Mahlum Lumber company in an interview with the Dispatch today:

"For a long time our company has endeavored to develop a plan whereby home building could be financed in this community. Many plans of payment have been investigated by us but we did not feel that any of them met the requirements of this particular community until we secured the present plan which we are offering. So many financial plans that we have investigated have been so one sided, but we vouch that the plan we now offer is as fair to the home builder as it is to the lumber company.

"Under our plan we loan sixty-five per cent of the value of the property including the lot. We loan not only enough money to pay for the lumber needed in the building, but also enough to pay for all the other material needed such as hardware, plumbing, heating, wiring, etc. Under our plan the home builder pays us back over a period of one hundred and forty-four months or twelve years. On each $1000 borrowed from us, the home builder pays us $7 per month and interest which on $1000 for the first month amounts to a total payment of $12.83. If $2000 is borrowed the home builder pays two times $12.83; if $3000 is borrowed, he pays three times $12.83 etc. Each month the payments get less because the principal is reduced each month and in this way the interest is less."

Through this plan the home builder knows just what is expected of him each month, before entering into the contract and each month the payment is met according to the contract. It the home builder is desirous of paying off the indebtedness in larger payments than required by the contract it is his privilege to do so and any amount above the required amount in the contract can be paid, up to the total amount of the contract. Under this plan the home builder has no semi-annual or annual interest charges to meet as is required under the ordinary mortgage.

The payments to be made on this plan on the average house do not exceed a fair rental value and this conpany believes that offering the people of Brainerd this plan, it will enable a large number of citizens to build new homes who have heretofore hesitated because of the difficulty in securing available funds for long time loans.

Our company is composed of Brainerd people and is one of the oldest concerns in Brainerd and the oldest lumber yard. The officers of our company have decided to invest heavily in the future of this city and the plan we now offer is a plan whereby the funds we are investing will be put into long time contracts and we believe that in offering this plan we are showing our faith in the future of Brainerd.

We have secured a large number of new home plans to offer along with this financial proposition and we will be pleased to show these plans to prospective home builders and to furnish them our book of "New Homes" and also furnish detailed information in regard to our easy payment plan. It should not be overlooked that we are also offering to finance the remodeling of old homes.

In making this offer we are endeavoring to take a real progressive step forward towards making Brainerd a "City of Beautiful Homes."

People contemplating improvements in their homes or planning new ones should immediately take advantage of this plan we are offering and should confer with a representative of our company at once so that work can be commenced early in the spring.

UNION SERVICE

Song and Story to be Given at the First Baptist Church Sunday Evening

A "service of song and story" entitled "The Missionary Hero of Labrador" is to be given by the Baptist young peoples chorus of the First Baptist church next Sunday evening, January 28th. The young people have been rehearsing for this several weeks under the direction of Rev. Arthur C. Smith, the pastor of the church.

"The Missionary Hero of Labrador" is none other than Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell who has given his life to the task of reaching the fishermen on the coasts of that region of the world. Dr. Grenfell has become a world renowned figure as a medical missionary and a thrilling account of his achievements is told by Miss Laura Ella Cragin which will be presented by Lyle Northrop who will be the reader of the evening.

The music of this interesting service is composed by Grant Colfax Fuller and are very fitting selections in giving added inspiration to the work.

Further announcements will be made and the program in full will be given in a later issue of the paper.

CHAMBER GETS A NEW COGNOMEN

By Vote Taken Wednesday Night will Hereafter be Known as "Brain-
erd Civic Association"

FAVOR BOND ISSUE FOR ROADS

Constitution and Bylaws of Association
Changed, Election of Officers
Set for January 31st

You will hereafter refer to the Chamber of Commerce as the "Brainerd Civic Association." The name was so changed at the meeting Wednesday night.

It had been decided to make this a supper meeting, but the house and social committee was unable to act, and the supper part had to be postponed.

A resolution was adopted, sponsored by County Highway Engineer Walter F. Murphy, favoring the bonding of the state to raise twenty million dollars for highway construction, according to the Babcock plan. It is understood that this indebtedness will make possible an earlier completion of the ten-year program which Mr. Babcock originally had in mind. The bonds will be taken care of by an automatic revolving fund from the motor vehicle tax law, so that it will be no additional burden on the tax payers.

The matter of revising the constitution and by-laws of the association was brought up and threshed over again. The only part of this work which had not been finally passed on was the changing of the name of the club. A. L. Hoffman stated his reasons for bringing up this change, and on motion of C. D. Johnson the meeting was unanimous in the choice of "Brainerd Civic Association" as the new cognomen, and it will be so known in the future.

The balance of the changes in the constitution and by-laws were made to govern the club in the future with these differences from the former methods:

The officers of the re-organization will be a president, three vice presidents, secretary, treasurer and seven directors. All, with the exception of the secretary, are to be elected by direct popular vote. Under the new by-laws a primary election will be held the first meeting in December of each year, and the regular general election at the second meeting in the same month.

At the primary election every member of the association will be a candidate for one of the offices. The two members receiving the highest number of votes for the different offices will be considered nominated.

and the fourteen highest for members of the board of directors from which seven will be elected. The president and treasurer will automatically become members of this board.

The secretary shall be chosen by the board of directors, subject to the approval of the entire association.

The discussion of these changes in the constitution and by-laws consumed so much time that the election of officers could not be held at Wednesday evening's meeting as had been originally planned. For this reason, the meeting was adjourned until next Wednesday night, January 31st for the purpose of electing these officers.

Edward Radke was fined $15 in municipal court Thursday morning on a charge of intoxication.

Three boys, Mansfred Norquist, Earl Ralston and Emil Peterson, aged between 15 and 16 years, were arraigned in court charged with stealing five gallons of ice cream from the Princess Candy Kitchen on Tuesday evening.

The police say that they found the ice cream containers in a shack these boys are maintaining in Northeast Brainerd. Two of the young fellows have been up in court before, the police state.

Their hearing has been set for two o'clock this afternoon.

Quite a little petty thieving has been brought to the attention of the police department, and this is the first results of their campaign to wipe out the practice.

Under our plan the home builder pays us back over a period of one hundred and forty-four months or twelve years. On each $1000 borrowed from us, the home builder pays us $7 per month and interest which on $1000 for the first month amounts to a total payment of $12.83. If $2000 is borrowed the home builder pays two times $12.83; if $3000 is borrowed, he pays three times $12.83 etc. Each month the payments get less because the principal is reduced each month and in this way the interest is less."

Through this plan the home builder knows just what is expected of him each month, before entering into the contract and each month the payment is met according to the contract. It is his privilege to do so and any amount above the required amount in the contract can be paid up to the total amount of the contract. Under this plan the home builder has no semi-annual or annual interest charges to meet as is required under the ordinary mortgage.
The payments to be made on this plan on the average house do not exceed a fair rental value and this com-

CHAMBER GETS A NEW COGNOMEN

By Vote Taken Wednesday Night will Hereafter be Known as "Brain-
erd Civic Association"

FAVOR BOND ISSUE FOR ROADS

Constitution and Bylaws of Association Changed, Election of Officers
Set for January 31st

You will hereafter refer to the Chamber of Commerce as the "Brainerd Civic Association." The name was so changed at the meeting Wednesday night.

It had been decided to make this a supper meeting, but the house and social committee was unable to act, and the supper part had to be posponed.

A resolution was adopted, sponsored by County Highway Engineer Walter F. Murphy, favoring the bonding of the state to raise twenty million dollars for highway construction, according to the Babcock plan. It is understood that this indebtedness will make possible an earlier completion of the ten-year program which Mr. Babcock originally had in mind. The bonds will be taken care of by an automatic revolving fund from the motor vehicle tax law, so that it will be no additional burden on the taxpayers.

The matter of revising the constitution and by-laws of the association was brought up and threshed over again. The only part of this work which had not been finally passed on was the changing of the name of the club. A. L. Hoffman stated his reasons for bringing up this change, and on motion of C. D. Johnson the meeting was unanimous in the choice of "Brainerd Civic Association" as the new cognomen, and it will be so known in the future.

The balance of the changes in the constitution and by-laws were made to govern the club in the future with these differences from the former methods:

The officers of the re-organization will be a president, three vice presidents, secretary, treasurer and seven directors. All, with the exception of the secretary, are to be elected by direct popular vote. Under the new by-laws a primary election will be held the first meeting in December of each year, and the regular general election at the second meeting in the same month.

At the primary election every member of the association will be a candidate for one of the offices. The two members receiving the highest number of votes for the different offices will be considered nominated.

ASSURE A DAWN BRINGS A NEW DAY

and the fourteen highest for menbers of the board of directors from which seven will be elected. The president and treasurer will automatically become members of this board.

The secretary shall be chosen by the board of directors, subject to the approval of the entire association.

The discussion of these changes in the constitution and by-laws consumed so much time that the election of officers could not be held at Wednesday evening's meeting as had been originally planned. For this reason, the meeting was adjourned until next Wednesday night, January 31st for the purpose of electing these officers.

FARRELL SAYS MAJORS WRONG ON DRAFT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Jan. 25.—Keneshaw Mountain Landis and Bill McCarthy in a finish battle over their baseball argument ought to be just as attractive a number as Tex Rickard could arrange in his line of business.

On the Federal bench, Judge Landis was known as a fearless fighter, and during his regime as president of the Pacific Coast League, Bill McCarthy has never taken a step backward.

As well as being fighters both are intelligent and experienced executives.

Landis in entering into the fight against the minors on the draft question, inspired by what he might consider as a duty toward the major league club owners, who pay him his big salary.

After reviewing both sides of the controversy from all angles it is considered hardly probable that the baseball commissioner can be overly convinced that he is on the right side.

In courting a fight against forces led by the type of McCarthy, the major leagues are getting into deep water. As was pointed out recently, McCarthy is just the type of a leader and fighter that Ban Johnson was when he started into baseball, and he promises to have just as much success as the American League president, if they keep after him.

The way that McCarthy went after Landis when the commissioner told him that the major leagues had felt they were right when they violated the seven-year agreement with the minors, acquainted those who did not know him with the fact that he was a battler.

Neither Landis nor subordinate heads of baseball can explain how the major leagues justify their actions in breaking a contract.

Summary punishment is meted out by organized baseball to a player who violates a contract or the reserve clause, which in itself is just within the law on a technicality.

No ball player can violate a contract without losing his job and his living. Club owners, however, can violate a contract and threaten to strangle the life out of any who dares protest.

FANNING WITH FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Jan. 25.—Keneshaw Mountain Landis and Bill McCarthy in a finish battle over their baseball argument ought to be just as attractive a number as Tex Rickard could arrange in his line of business.

On the Federal bench, Judge Landis was known as a fearless fighter, and during his regime as president of the Pacific Coast League, Bill McCarthy has never taken a step backward.

As well as being fighters both are intelligent and experienced executives.

Landis in entering into the fight against the minors on the draft question, inspired by what he might consider as a duty toward the major league club owners, who pay him his big salary.

After reviewing both sides of the controversy from all angles it is considered hardly probable that the baseball commissioner can be overruled convinced that he is on the right side.

In courting a fight against forces led by the type of McCarthy, the major leagues are getting into deep water. As was pointed out recently, McCarthy is just the type of a leader and fighter that Ban Johnson was when he started into baseball, and he promises to have just as much success as the American League president, if they keep after him.

The way that McCarthy went after Landis when the commissioner told him that the major leagues had felt they were right when they violated the seven-year agreement with the minors, acquainted those who did not know him with the fact that he was a battler.

Neither Landis nor subordinate heads of baseball can explain how the major leagues justify their actions in breaking a contract.

Summary punishment is meted out by organized baseball to a player who violates a contract or the reserve clause, which in itself is just within the law on a technicality.

No ball player can violate a contract without losing his job and his living. Club owners, however, can violate a contract and threaten to strangle the life out of any who dares protest.
